HUNDREDS MORE.

Added to the List of Gen. Slocum Victims.

Nearly 900 Bodies So Far Recovered and 300 More Still Missing.

New York, June 21.--Evidence of a startling nature, which doubtless will have an important bearing on the result of the coroner's inquiry into the Gen. Slocum disaster, was forthcoming at the inquest today. Perhaps the most unexpected incident was the continued refusal to answer questions of Henry Lundberg, a United States Steamboat Inspector, who was supposed to have inspected the life preservers and the hull of the ill-fated steamer. His refusal was based on the ground that an answer might tend to criminate him, and he acted on the advice of his counsel.

The coroner committed Lundberg to the House of Detention, but later accepted $500 bail for his appearance at the hearing tomorrow, which was satisfactory to the Assistant District Attorney.

By the use of dynamite and heavy guns fired by men from the Second battery scores of bodies were brought up from the bottom around the shores near North Brother Island today.

The searching along the beach and in boats gathered in 112, bringing the number of bodies recovered up to date up to the appalling total of 845.

Three Hundred Still Missing.

Of these 700 have been identified, and the missing still are approximately at something more than 300. Many of the bodies last found never will be identified because of changes that have taken place during the week they have been under water.

The harvest of victims who lost their lives in the Gen. Slocum disaster continued today. All through the night, despite the terrific electrical storm that swept over the city, the searchers held to their gruesome work, and early today the total number of bodies recovered had reached more than 800, and it was expected that every hour during the day would add to the number.

It was hoped that identification would materially reduce the large list of missing before night. An alarming result of the developments of the last three or four days has been that, although more than 200 bodies have been taken from the river, the list of missing has remained almost unchanged. Today when the total list of bodies recovered is 845, the list of missing continued well in excess of 300.

Thirty-Seven More Bodies.

New York, June 22.--Bodies of victims continue to be found in the waters adjacent to the scene of the disaster. Today thirty-seven came to the surface, making the total number recovered 882. Of these 778 have been identified. Despite the fact that the police are bending every energy toward getting a complete list of those who went on the ill-fated excursion, definite figures as to the number of missing cannot be given. From present indications, however, it is apparent that the death toll will total nearly 1,000.

To-morrow nearly 100 policemen who speak German will begin a house-to-house canvass for the purpose of verifying the list of the missing.

Was The Longest Day in the Year

Slowly but surely for the last three months, the direct rays of the sun have been moving northward but Tuesday the highest latitude to which these direct rays ever approach was reached as they fell directly upon the tropic of cancer. The sun rose at 4:44 o'clock and set at 7:39 o'clock, thus making the day 14 hours and 35 minutes long and the night 9 hours and 25 minutes.

TAME AFFAIR

Was the Republican Convention Nominating Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

Platform Recommends Interference With Elective Franchise in Southern States.

Chicago, June 22.--The Republican National Convention was called to order for the transaction of the business of the second day at 12:25 p. m., by temporary chairman Root. It took three or four minutes for the convention to become quiet when the chairman introduced Rev. Father Thomas E. Cox, of Chicago, who offered prayer, asking for the Divine protection of the country and control of the delegates in their deliberations.

The attendance at the convention was a little larger than on the previous day, but there was none of the exciting clamor for admission that usually prevails on such occasions, this being due to the necessary lack of excitement in the convention, where the outcome of everything was known beforehand.

Hitt Withdrawn.

Senator Cullom created a mild sensation by announcing that the name of Hon. R. R. Hitt would not be presented to the convention as a candidate for Vice-President. This made the nomination of Fairbanks by acclamation a certainty.

Stalwarts Seated.

The principal contest to be decided by the committee on credentials was the fight between the regulars and the stalwarts from Wisconsin. The sub-committee of the committee on credentials heard the arguments on both sides and reported in favor of the Spooner delegation and against the LaFollette crowd. The committee on credentials accepted the report, and when the general report was made to the convention it was adopted without a dissenting voice. The report of the committee on credentials was then adopted as a whole.

Permanently Organized.

Chairman Johnson, of the committee on organization, reported the name of Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois, as permanent chairman. The report was adopted with great enthusiasm. Chairman Cannon was escorted to the chair and introduced by Temporary Chairman Root.

The Platform.

The committee on resolutions presented the platform, which was adopted amid much enthusiasm.

Much of the platform is devoted to a resume of what the Republican party has accomplished--the freeing of Cuba, the suppression of insurrection in the Philippines and the securing of the route and providing for the building of the Panama canal being dwelt on at some length.

The tariff part of the platform insists on the maintenance of the principles of protection and therefore the rates of duty should be readjusted from time to time, but only when changed conditions and public interest demanded alteration. "This work, however, cannot safely be left to any other hands than those of the Republican party."

The upholding of the gold standard is declared to be the duty of the Republican party.

Legislation which tends to the upbuilding of an American merchant marine is demanded.

It is asserted that a navy powerful enough to defend the country against any attack is a necessity, and the party pledges itself to the creation of such a navy.

It is the purpose of the Republican party to uphold the Monroe doctrine.

It is declared that the enforcement of the civil service law is essential for the proper administration of the government.

The peaceful settlement of international difficulties by arbitration is favored.

The vigorous efforts of the administration to protect American citizens in foreign lands is commended.

It is recommended that Congress take action to discover whether by special discrimination in State statutes the elective franchise is unconstitutionally denied to any class of voters.

Committee Announced.

After the adoption of the platform the names of the new national committees were announced.

The First Roll Call.

The first roll call of the convention was on the motion to allow Hawaii six votes instead of two. This unexpected delay did not please the convention, which was anxious for action on more important subjects.

Nomination Delayed.

The nomination of President

Roosevelt was delayed by the convention over the question of admitting the delegates from Hawaii. The convention adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow.

The Ticket Named.

Chicago, June 23.--The convention reconvened this morning at 10 o'clock and candidates were formally presented. Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, was nominated for President, receiving the votes of every state.

Senators Chas. W. Fairbanks, of Indiana, was nominated for Vice-President at 2:08 p. m. by acclamation, all other candidates having withdrawn.

Even the Smallest Scraps Are Now Utilized in the Various Manufactures.

It used to be a favorite remark of one of Chicago's largest packers that so many uses have been discovered for the hog that when he was killed nothing about him was lost but his squeal. As with the hog so it is with the product of the rubber tree—nothing tangible is lost, says the Chronicle.

Worn-out rubber, like worn-out silver, is something that does not exist in these days.

Ever since the advent of bicycles and motor cars, both of which drew heavily on the world's rubber supply, and ever since the hundred and one uses to which rubber is put in connection with electricity, the material has become more and more scarce and valuable, so that even the old rubber shoe and the worn-out rubber boot may throw out their chests in pride at being worth really something. Nothing containing rubber is discarded nowadays. The old rubber coat over which the spring lines of a motor car may run on a country road to-day may some day find a noising place in the soft tresses of a woman's hair, after having been transformed into a handsome comb.

Even vulcanized rubber, which, owing to the sulphuric process to which it was subjected, was formerly valueless, is now subject to a process which rejuvenates it and makes it fit to be worked up again for the purposes of the manufacture. Immense quantities of this product, which formerly was assigned to a rubbish heap, are now treated and admixed with a certain percentage of new gum, enough to cheapen the price of most rubber goods turned out by the manufacturer to-day. Old rubber, however, can be used by itself without any addition of fresh gum, the process of treatment being a simple one.

RING ON A SWEET POTATO.

Long-Lost Wedding Ring Found Imbedded About the Center of the Tuber.

Rev. J. E. Curry, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Cranbury, N. J., according to the New York Tribune, vows for the following: Some years ago Miss Brown, now the wife of Rev. H. H. Sleeper, rector of Grace Episcopal church in Elizabeth, N. J., lost her mother's wedding ring, as she supposed, in the sandpit of the gymnasium attached to the Brainerd institute in Cranbury. One day, when the incident had been forgotten, Mrs. Brown's servant was preparing for dinner sweet potatoes, which had just been brought in from the garden. She noticed one with a peculiar hard around the center, making it appear as though two potatoes had grown together. She laid it aside to show to her mistress. Something about the shape of the hard attracted Mrs. Brown's attention at once, and investigation revealed the fact that it was the long-lost wedding ring, badly tarnished, yet whole as the day it was lost. A little reflection solved the mystery. The ring had been lost, not in the gymnasium, but in the chip yard, from which the cutting paraffin had been taken to enrich the sweet potato hills. One of the young tubers had grown through the circle of the ring, and thus brought it again to the light, and restored it to its place on Mrs. Brown's finger, where it is now worn with greater joy than ever.

Power of Russian Church.

The chief procurator of Russia, in a late report to the czar on the state of Russian religion, brings out the fact that the power and wealth of the Greek church are immense. There are 66,780 of these churches in the empire. During the last year 833 new places of worship were consecrated. In connection with these churches there are 16,658 monks and 36,146 nuns. There are 2,950 head priests and 43,743 ordinary priests. These together with 58,156 deacons and underdeacons make a grand total, although the figures of which are not given exactly, of 170,000 persons in official positions. A sum of nearly $6,000,000 was paid by the Russian people last year for the support of this vast organization.

J. SOULE SMITH DEAD.

Past Grand Master of Kentucky.
a Confederate Soldier. And a Writer.

Lynchburg, Ky., June 20.—Judge J. Soule Smith, attorney, jurist and perhaps the best informed member of the Masonic order in the United States, dropped dead this morning at his home in this city. Death was due to heart disease, and came at 10 a. m. any immediate warning. Judge Smith was born in Hamilton county, Va., March 29, 1848, and was therefore just past his fifty-sixth birthday. He covered the Confederate army as a boy of fifteen, and served all through the Civil war as a member of Gen. John B. Gordon's brigade in the army of Northern Virginia. He was several times wounded, and was captured at the battle of Winchester, September 19, 1864.

At the close of the war he took charge of a plantation near Baltimore, Md., from which place he subsequently moved to Fayette county, Kentucky. Settling in Lexington, he supported himself by teaching school in the day and reading law in the evenings. He was graduated from the law department of Kentucky University in 1871, and in 1875 was made a professor of common law in that institution.

Aside from the practice of law, Judge Smith was noted for his ardent interest in Masonry, and his love of literary pursuits. He for some time edited the Lexington Observer and Reporter, and was up to the time of his death a vigorous writer, contributing to many newspapers and magazines. He usually wrote under the nom de plume of "Falcon." He was a genial, courteous and cultured gentleman, and was liked by all who knew him.

Career in Politics.

In politics Judge Smith was a Democrat, and was always a leader of the party in Fayette county. At different times he held the offices of city attorney, county attorney, police court judge, city assessor and member of the general council.

VAN WYCK MAKES $1,200,000.

Former Mayor of New York Explains His Desertion of Politics.

New York, June 20.—Friends of former Mayor Robert Van Wyck, who sails for Europe on the Campanian tomorrow, learned tonight why he has snapped his fingers at politics, ignored the St. Louis convention, to which he is a delegate, and is going abroad for a vacation of many months.

The explanation is a remarkable streak of luck in Wall Street, which has made him $1,200,000 richer. Mr. Van Wyck said today he had cleaned up a half million in steel alone. He has decided, he says, to give up business altogether and enjoy himself.

THE CAPE SABLE HORSEFLY.

Pest of Florida Swamps with a Bite That Draws Blood Like a Knife Thrust.

A dreadful pest of the lower Florida swamps is the Cape Sable horsefly. Specimens measure an inch and a quarter in length. Their bite draws blood like the thrust of a knife, says a writer in Country Life in America. Imagine a swarm of them darting around one like so many hummingbirds! Fortunately they are not, at least early in the season, particularly inclined to attack man. The only domestic animal that can live in this country is the mule and even his tough hide requires a dyproof stable for its protection and a suit of armor when outdoors. One day I engaged a mule and thicket to save several miles of weary lugging along the strip of prairie before we struck off into the interior to visit a great rookery. When the guide brought the animal it presented a truly remarkable appearance, clad in a suit of burlap that would have afforded complete protection, save that the legs of the "trousers" had been slit down, as the animal could hardly have been induced to put them on. So the days hung dangling above the legs, the eyes gazed out through the holes, surveying the swarm of flies and the stranger. We left him tied to a palm tree for the day. At dusk, when we returned, the legs of the poor beast were dripping with blood and he was fairly frantic with pain. We had a stormy experience in harnessing him, having to be very spry to avoid being killed by the flying bores. I felt sorry for the mule that was born to live in such a country.

FOOD OF THE JAPANESE.

A Diet That Is Extremely Simple with Fish as the Staple Article.

The Jap at home in time of peace, or the Jap in the field in time of war would scarcely be accounted an epicure from the western point of view. His diet is simple in the extreme. Fish is the staple article of food in Japan. Raw fish is a luxury. When the Jap stays away from his native lands for a few years, however, he usually acquires a taste for cooked foods. A writer in the Sunday Magazine recalls the case of a Japanese friend who returned home after a long absence abroad. He tried several times to regale himself on uncooked fish. Each time he was made sick. Civilization had cured him of the habit. At the date of the revolution in 1868 '69, there was not a pound of meat or flesh food of any kind in Japan, no milk, butter or cheese. Potatoes, cabbage and tomatoes were unknown; there were only a few flavorless and acid fruits and a few common vegetables. There was a time, before Buddhism was introduced into Japan, when, according to the Sunday Magazine, the Japanese were both hunters and fishermen, when they lived to a large extent on the products of the chase—wild boars, deer, monkeys, hares and pheasants. But Buddhism interdicted killing and the Jap gave up the chase and also the rearing of domestic animals for food. He learned, however, from the Buddhist missionaries how to grow rice, wheat and other cereals and certain vegetables—radishes, turnips, onions and cucumbers.

X-Rays to Test Paintings.

The genuineness of paintings attributed to the old masters is now tested by the application of the X-ray. A gentleman of Munich who has in his collection a "Christ Crowned with Thorns," said to be the work of Albrecht Durer, was anxious to set at rest the doubts expressed by connoisseurs as to the authenticity of this painting. He accordingly had the picture photographed by means of the X-rays, with the result that Durer's monogram, surmounted by the date, 1521, was apparent, as was also a two line Latin inscription, the very existence of which was unsuspected.—Science.

From a Leading Druggist.

As druggists and retailers of patent medicines, we can say conscientiously that we have a patient on our shelves that we sell as much of as we do of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and that it gives satisfactory results. It is without doubt the best medicine and the largest seller that we ever had. Yours respectfully, S. C. Tucker, Champaign, Ill.

OSTRICHES IN ARIZONA.

Have Become Acclimated and Are Growing Larger Than South African Birds.

The ostrich industry in the Salt River valley, Arizona, is fast becoming one of large commercial importance, states the New York Sun.

When the ostrich was introduced from South Africa, 11 years ago, the change of food and climate did not agree with the birds, and very little progress was made during the first years. The business requires experience, and until those engaged in it had learned everything worth knowing about ostrich culture they made little headway.

About five years ago the birds had become acclimated, their care was more thoroughly understood, and they began to thrive. It is believed that they are doing better in the Salt River valley than in South Africa.

At any rate, the American ostriches are several inches taller than those of South Africa, and their feathers are of somewhat finer quality. Full grown they stand eight feet high and weigh 200 pounds.

The rich, black, glossy feathers of the male are far superior in quality to the drab plumage of the female, and the feathers plucked every eight months are sold as high as $125 a pound in the eastern market. The average yield is a pound of feathers to the bird.

Over 100 ostriches are now on the alfalfa pastures in the valley, feeding contentedly on the rich herbage which makes them as fat as any ostrich should be. The climate of the valley seems to be particularly adapted to ostrich raising.

ON HOLDING THE BREATH.

Tests Have Shown That One Minute and a Half Is the Extreme Limit.

For divers engaged in certain classes of submarine work a long stay under the water is made possible by holding a peculiar belief into which a steady supply of air is forced downward from a boat through a rubber tube. A man can thus stay below the surface for an hour or two without serious discomfort. Submergence without any such help means holding one's breath, and that is a very different matter. According to the American Inventor, no one can remain under water more than two minutes without becoming unconscious, not withstanding the claims of exhibition divers. At Xanarino, where the sponge divers are reported to be able to remain under water three and four minutes, tests were made recently and resulted in conclusively proving that none of them remained down as long as a minute and a half. At Caylon, where some tests were made among the famous pearl divers, it was ascertained that few of them remained below the surface as long as a minute, and other tests made on the Red sea among the Arabs proved that a minute and a quarter was the longest they could endure without a fresh breath.

Drowning is a quick death. Even though the water is kept out of the lungs, insensibility will ensue in two minutes, and complete unconsciousness in three.

Pay of Parliament.

There is a strong feeling in England against the payment of members, on the ground that it would tend to create the class of professional politicians seen in foreign countries and our colonies. Its absence obviously tends to restrict membership of parliament to the well-to-do classes, and, as a matter of fact, these enjoy an overwhelming representation in the house of commons, the labor members, whose expenses and a modest salary are provided from some organization of the classes they represent, being at present a small but happily an increasing group. To compel a candidate to pay the cost of counting the votes which send him to serve the nation in parliament is preposterous, and after taking safeguard against a superfluity of candidates, the system will probably soon be abolished.—Century.

sermon.

Rev. B. R. Orr roared the county officials of Henderson for their sermon Sunday for permitting Sunday baseball. In his zeal he went too far and made charges that were so fiercely resented by the officials responsible that Mr. Orr published the following card:

To Whom it May Concern:
I wish to state in this public way that after conversing with our county officials and others I am convinced that I have done them grave injustice in the statements made concerning them in the sermon preached in the Methodist church last Sunday, and I wish to hereby withdraw all statements that in any way reflect upon their official conduct. B. F. Orr.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by P.
J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a tea-spoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system.
They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

The World's Fair, national college, open to the State University students of the United States was held Wednesday night in the Hall of Congresses. It was won by Howard Stanley Smith, of Miami University, (Ohio). Jesse Hole, of Kansas State University, was second.

The subject assigned for discussion was "The Improvement of City Government in the United States." It was divided into sub-topics, and each contestant drew lots for the subdivisions before the contest. The speakers were given twelve minutes to present their topics.

The Russian squadron at Viad-nostok made a raid last week into the sea of Japan, touched and menaced the Japanese coast and sank several vessels. One of them was a transport loaded with troops and carrying $1,000,000 in specie, which was lost. The commander of a Russian torpedo boat set the Captain of a Japanese sailing ship ashore with his visiting card and a letter to the governor of Hakodate, excusing himself for not calling personally, and saying that he would return.

Representative R. B. Bradley is a candidate for County Judge of Hopkins county, to fill out the unexpired term of J. C. C. Givens, resigned. He states in a card in the Madisonville Hustler that he is an applicant for the appointment and will be a candidate at the next election. The Governor will be called upon to appoint a judge to serve until after the election of November, 1905. Mr. Bradley's two races for representative have demonstrated his popularity in his county and he will be a most formidable candidate in the contest.

The formal announcement has been made that Clark Howell Tandy of this city, has won the Cecil Rhodes scholarship competed for by four Kentucky boys. The Kentuckian announced some time ago that he was sure to receive the coveted honor. He is the son of Mr.
W. T. Tandy, cashier of the City Bank, and a graduate of the Kentucky State College. The prize has been won by merit and the honor
will be most worthily bestowed.

Up to Wednesday night 883 bodies had been recovered from the Gen. Slocum disaster in New York harbor. This is 10 more than the officials of the boat claim were on the ill-fated vessel. There are 300 persons still missing, some of whom are included in the list of unidentified.
The death roll is now estimated at 1,000. With the two exceptions of the Galveston and Johannesburg, it was the worst horror that has ever occurred in this country.

Parker will have a strong lead on the first ballot at St. Louis and will be the favorite of the masses to accept him and the implacable opposition of Mr. Bryan force some dark horse to the front in the interest of harmony, it looks like Parker's nomination is practically assured. There can be no denial of the proposition that the Democratic state—from which the votes must come to win in November—are nearly all for the New York man.

The days of train robbers are not yet over. The finest express on the Northern Pacific was held up by two men near Butte, Montana, at the same place the same train was held up last year, and robbed of a large amount of money. The safe was blown by dynamite and Engineer O'Neill was killed in a brave fight with the bandits.

Of the 848 Democratic delegates elected, 433 are instructed and 404 uninstructed. Of that number 226 are instructed for Parker, 154 for Hearst, 32 for Olney, 26 for Wall and 6 for Gray. Seven other states, the last to hold conventions, will complete the list this week. The convention will meet at St. Louis July 6.

Mercer County Child Discovered
Calmly Chewing off the Tail
of a Garter Snake.

Harrodsburg, Ky., June 22.—Several days ago the little two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vincent, near this place, was missed from the family circle, and her mother, becoming uneasy over her prolonged absence, started out to look for her. After searching about the place for nearly an hour, she returned to the house, and a few minutes later discovered the child in the yard, her face and throat all covered with blood. Rushing to the baby, she saw a large snake coiled about the child's neck, its arm striking recklessly in every direction. The child, from the tail of the snake tightly clutched in her chubby fist, and she was calmly nibbling off the end and eating it with apparent relish. About two inches of the reptile's body had been masticated before the frantic mother tore it away. The child's face and arms were terribly bitten
by the infuriated snake.

Physicians were hastily summoned, who examined the wounds,
but pronounced the child in no danger. Fortunately the reptile was a garter snake, whose bite is not poisonous. It measured eighteen and a half inches. Where and how the child caught it is a mystery, but she has apparently suffered no ill effects from her terrible meal.

Henderson Gleaner Upholds Present National Committee.

The Henderson Gleaner of Tuesday says editorially of the national committee situation:

One of the most important matters to be determined by the Kentucky delegation at St. Louis will be the selection of a national committee for Kentucky. For the past eight years this position has been held by the Hon. Urey Woodson, of Owensboro. He is a candidate for re-election to this position and will be opposed by Hon. W. B. Haldeman, of Louisville.

It seems that the race will be made up between these two gentlemen, and as between the two the Gleaner would be very glad to see
Mr. Woodson retained in the position. Mr. Woodson is a citizen of the second congressional district and has worked his way to the front by dint of hard work, undeviating loyalty to the party and unusual executive ability. He is the owner and editor of two papers, the Owensboro Messenger and the Paducah News-Democrat, that are models of their class and would be a credit to even the city of Louisville. These papers have never soured, but have always been found battling manfully for the success of the party through good and through evil report.

While Mr. Haldeaman may be an excellent gentleman, yet he is surrounded by the influence dominating Louisville politics, and of all the places in Kentucky the city of Louisville can boast of the most corrupt and objectionable methods in connection with political matters.
It is a well known fact that the masses of neither party have a word to say in the preliminary party movements in Louisville. The whole business is run by those in control of what is known as the party machinery. The people never think of participating in conventions or primaries, except at rare intervals when upheavals may come. They know that the results are usually predetermined by those having the party organization.

Therefore the Gleaner is rather prejudiced against Louisville as the place from which to select the national committee from Kentucky and favors Woodson, for the reason that not only is he a citizen of our congressional district, but he is from a county where fairness has always been the rule in county matters and can be trusted at all times to stand firm and true to the interests and nominees of the party.

We trust that the delegates from our district will stand by their district man, other things being equal, and there can be no doubt in our mind that "other things are equal"
in this matter.

DR. EDWARDS.

An Addition to the Professional Circles of Hopkinsville.

Dr. A. H. Edwards, formerly of Nashville, has located in Hopkineye, ear, nose and throat. His specialty studies were prosecuted for three years in Europe. His offices are located in the Phoenix

most modern and improved apparatus for all classes of practice.
Personally Dr. Edwards is a genial, affable gentleman, and we predict for him a successful career

DOUBLE HEADER

Here Today With Vincennes—
Another Game Tomorrow.

Henderson Team Will Be Here
Monday for a Series of Three Games of Ball.

The program for a game in Hopkintonville between the locals and Vincennes yesterday was changed, the Indians stopping over in Henderson to play off a postponed game in that city. The Vincennes club arrived here last midnight, however and will play a double header with the local team this afternoon. The first game will be called at 3 o'clock and the second one at 4:30. The second contest between these clubs will take place to-morrow.

Henderson will be here Monday for three games with Hopkintonville. The games to be played here this week and those of next week promise to be most interesting contests and lovers of the sport should turn out en masse to see them.

Hopkintonville won the game at Clarksville Wednesday by the score of 9 to 6. The locals batted the Tennesseans twister at will, making eleven hits. The first pitcher for Clarksville was knocked out of the box and the second one faring but little better. Hopkintonville had things pretty much their own way and won in a walk.

At Cairo Wednesday, Cairo won from Vincennes. Score 3 to 1.

Paduach was victorious in the game played with Henderson at Paduach Wednesday. The score was 9 to 5.

The second game at Clarksville Tuesday between Hopkintonville and the Tennesseans was won by Clarksville. The score was 4 to 3. At the end of the eighth inning the game was 3 to 1 in favor of Hopkintonville. In the ninth the Tennesseans got on their batting clothes, and this, coupled with a costly error on the part of one of the local boys, gave Clarksville three more runs, thus winning the contest.

Tuesday's game at Paduach was won by the Paduach team, Henderson being defeated by the score of 6 to 4. Five of the six scores made by Paduach were earned runs.

The same day at Cairo, Vincennes lost by the score of 9 to 2. Errors on the part of the Indian lads lost the game.

The local team lost to Clarksville in the first game of the series played at Clarksville Monday. The contest was a hard fought one and resulted in the score of 2 to 0. Neither club was able to get a man across the plate until the eighth inning, when the Tennesseans ran in two.

At Cairo Monday the Egyptians won from Vincennes, in a ten-inning contest, the score being 3 to 2.

The contest at Paduach Monday between Henderson and the Pads resulted in a victory for the latter, the score being 4 to 3. The Hens had seven errors charged to them.

Forrest Morris, who was injured in a game at Henderson about a month ago, while not fully recovered, will participate in the games here. He will pitch for the locals in one of the games today.

Wallace Evans, of Louisville, who has been Henderson's rambrooke his collar bone and arm Tuesday afternoon in the game at Paduach by being run into by Sherman, of Paduach, who claimed that Evans was blocking him at second. The accident will put Evans out of the game for a month or more.

Will Edward Gary, a son of Mr. R. C. Gary, of Pembroke, is at home from State College, Lexington, where he took the degree of Bachelor of Science. Mr. Gary will rest up a year from his studies and then take up the study of medicine. He is an all-round athlete and stood well up in his school work.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

It is interesting to note that H. Phillips, one of the best jockeys riding on American tracks at the present time, has his stirrup leathers a little longer than most of the other jockeys. This gives him a seat that is in few instances, enables him to control his horse better and must be a great asset to him. At the same time, lengthening his stirrups does not prevent him from getting all the benefits to be gained by riding forward and crouching. In the opinion of many trainers and owners the position of the jockey in modern racing shortens the life of the tendons of the fore-legs, but they can't win unless they put jockeys who ride that way. Before 1877 racing in this country was chiefly at regular long distances, four-mile heats being the favorite race. The courses were a mile around, and horses were trained as well as raced on them, and the races almost mechanically. Loose, slow work under heavy clothing was the sort of preparation both horse and rider got, and the best, rather than the fastest horse won. With the introduction of Jerome Park shorter distances and English jockeys were introduced. One of the first of these, William Hayward, created a great sensation by waiting till near the finish before making his effort, and coming with a rush. Since that time distances raced over have been made shorter and shorter, and races have increased enormously in value and the volume of betting on them has assumed vast proportions. The business of racing has become a well-developed sport, and the jockey has developed so much competition that, until about seven years ago, all ideas pertaining to horsemanship, sportsmanship or the improvement of the horse or rider were lost sight of in the effort to develop those accessories of racing from which the greatest revenue could be obtained.

The outcome of all this was conditions that called for a quick break and a short burst of high speed on the part of the horse, and a forward, crouching style of riding on the part of the jockey. These are the conditions that have led to the modern seat, aided by the light standard of weight brought about by the competition referred to between the associations, which induces them to embody in the conditions of their advertised races many fancied advantages in the way of "allowances."

Arthur Duffy, of Georgetown university, the holder of the world's record of 9.3 seconds for the 100-yard dash, has planned to undertake the most extensive sprinting tour of any American athlete this summer. In addition to going to England, Scotland and Wales, as he has done for the last four years, Duffy has decided to make an excursion to Australia and New Zealand, where he will give exhibitions and compete in 100-yard and shorter sprint dashes throughout the island country. Duffy's foreign itinerary has him scheduled to make his first appearance at the English championships on July 2. Then he will exhibit and compete in the various county meets in England, Scotland and Ireland, later crossing to the continent for a short stay. Arriving in Australia the latter part of August, he expects to compete in the national championships at Sydney on September 1. During the remainder of that month he will make a tour of the various colonies, similar to that of the counties in Great Britain. It is said that when he completes his competition in Australia he will make his final appearance as an amateur, and that he will retire permanently at that time.

The Brooklyn Handicap (1 1/4 miles) at Gravesend was won this year by The Picket by a head from the favorite, Irish Lad. Proper was third, two lengths back. Time: 2:06.5. The international chess tournament, recently held at Cambridge Springs, Pa., has been concluded. Marshall won the contest, Lasker and Janowski being second and third. Fourth, Showalter fifth, while Schlechter and Tchigorin were placed in sixth and seventh places. For the second time within a month the world's record for five-men teams at tennis has been broken by an Omaha team, which bowled a total of 3,260. The record for a single game by five men was also established at 1,186, the previous high score being 1,164, held by an Erie team.

Fred Kramer, the well-known cyclist, who has been doing wonderful work of late, smashed the American one mile handicap bicycle record of 1:55.95 at Valsburg recently by covering the distance in 1:52.5. Kramer's record was made on a new machine, a 1914 model, with three turns.

The Oxford University Athletic club, on behalf of Oxford and Cambridge universities, has sent a challenge to Harvard and Yale to hold an athletic meeting in London this summer.

In the western Pennsylvania swimming championships held at Bradock recently Guy M. Daly, of Pittsburgh, established a new world's record for 97 yards, covering the distance in 56 seconds, with three turns.

GUESSWORK

Were Plans Submitted For New State Capitol

Man Who Received Concession Talks Interestingly of the Project.

Cincinnati, O., June 24.—Plans for Kentucky's new $1,000,000 capitol building are very much in the embryo, according to Architect Frank M. Andrews, of Dayton, O., who was selected over fifty competitors to supervise the work. Sketches submitted at the time the capitol commission selected the architects could be little more than guess work," said Mr. Andrews to a correspondent at the St. Nicholas hotel. "I submitted none and will not do so until visiting with the commissioners the capitol of Jackson, Miss., and Providence, R. I. The former cost about $1,100,000 and the latter $1,000,000, and after considering the best features of each and adding what we consider undesirable, the first sketches will be drawn. Even these will be subject to the approval of the commission, consisting of Gov. Beckham and the secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and attorney general. After their final approval the plans and specifications will be made and as soon as possible the actual work will commence.

"Of course, it will be the merest speculation to fix a time within which the capital will be completed. This much is certain: I shall build it as I would an office building or a hotel, that is to say in the shortest possible time consistent with thorough work and attention to details.

"It will not stir (barring unexpected interferences) as many public buildings do and will be finished within the amount of the appropriation.

"It will be conducted as a plain business proposition, just as it has been started. And just here I want to say that among my selection such men as Cass Gilbert, of New York, and Mann, of St. Louis, have expressed to me in terms of utmost sincerity their gratification that the selection was made on business and not on partisan lines. I am a Republican, having never scratched a ticket and had absolutely no political influence with Democratic leaders in Kentucky.

"Under these circumstances there can be no public scandal such as has disgraced the erection of state buildings in New York and Pennsylvania. The work will be watched most carefully of course, by the people and press, and possibly criticized, but their criticism from start to finish will be welcome and will unearth no fraud, for there will be none."

ROBBED SAFE.

Thief Secured $50 From Hopkinsville Steam Laundry.

The safe of the Hopkinsville Steam Laundry was broken open Wednesday night and rifled of its cash, about $50. The thief entered the building by prizing open a side window. The outer door of the safe had been left unlocked and the inside door was prized. The cash was in an iron box. The robber carried the box out doors and used a chisel to open it. One dime and a check for $1 were left in the box. There were a number of checks and other valuable papers in the safe, but nothing but the cash was taken. The thief left no clue.

FILLED WITH SHOT.

Gip Griffin Attempts to Kill Henry Warner.

Wounded Man Has a Chance to Recover and Griffin has Fled.

Henry Warner, a farmer living several miles east of Crofton, was shot and it is believed at this writing mortally wounded, Wednesday morning, by Gip Griffin. The weapon used was a double-barrel shotgun and both loads were fired into Warner at a range of only ten or twelve feet. Warner was hit in right leg, hip and bowels. The trouble came over a dispute about crops, Griffin being a tenant on Warner's farm. They were in a field on Warner's place.

After shooting Warner with both barrels of his gun, Griffin walked up to him and knocked him down with the butt of the gun, which made a severe gash in his forehead.

A physician who was summoned attended to the wounded man, removing more than 40 shot from him. They were probably squirrel shot, though this point was not made clear by our informant.

Sheriff Davis and Officer Walker went to Warner's place Wednesday night, but Griffin had gone and they returned yesterday without being able to arrest him. Detective W. H. Nixon took his bloodhounds out yesterday to prosecute the search. Reports yesterday were that Warner had a good chance to recover.

Warner is a very large man and his robust physique will be in his favor. He is about 65 years old. Griffin is a young man.

SNAKE FOR BEDFELLOW.

Mother Twice Aroused, Refused to Investigate Until It Floored.

Bristol, Tenn., June 22.—The little five year old son of Mrs. Nannie Cannon residing at Limestone, East Tennessee awoke at 10 o'clock in the night and told his mother that a snake was in his bed. The mother regarding it as a fancy of the child decided to dream sleep soundly insisted that the little fellow should be quiet and go back to sleep. Sobbing with fear the little fellow soon became quiet but a short while his mother was again aroused by the cries of the child, who insisted a snake was in the bed. The mother was still unwilling to believe that it was anything more than a fancy, and vehemently scolded the child until he again became quiet. At intervals through the night she was aroused by the sobbing of the child whose fear had thrown him into a state of terror. The mother still had no faith in the story and the night wore away without investigation.

At daybreak, when Mrs. Cannon arose to go about her household duties, remembering the fretting of the little boy during the night, she turned the cover down where the child lay asleep, and there coiled up beside the youth, lay an unusually large black snake about five feet in length. Seizing her, the mother lifted him quickly from the bed. The disturbance aroused the snake, and before Mrs. Cannon could find any instrument suitable to kill the reptile with it had left the bed, which was in an upstairs chamber, and crawled up the wall into the garret. The snake has not been seen since, and the family have been in nightly dread of the reptile. The child was not in any way injured by its hideous companion.

DOCTOR ADVOCATED OPERATION—PE-RU-NA MADE KNIFE UNNECESSARY.

MRS. EVA BARTLOW.

New York City, N. Y., writes:

"I suffered for three years with leucorrhea and ulceration of the womb. The doctor advised an operation which I dreaded very much, and strongly objected to go under it. Now I am changed woman. Peruna cured me; it took nine bottles, but I felt so much improved I kept taking it, as I dreaded an operation so much. I am today in perfect health and have not felt so well for fifteen years."—Mrs. Eva Bartlow.

It is no longer a question as to whether Peruna can be relied on to cure all such cases. During the many years in which Peruna has been put to test in all forms and stages of acute and chronic catarrh no one year has put this remedy to greater test than the past year.

If all the women who are suffering with any form of female weakness would write to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, and give him a complete description of their symptoms and the peculiarities of their troubles, he will immediately reply with complete directions for treatment, free of charge.

A WOMAN'S BACK.

Aches and Pains Will Disappear If the Advice of This Hopkinsville Citizen is Followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains. Most times 'tis the kidneys' fault. Backache is really kidney ache. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.

Many Hopkinsville women know this. Read what one has to say about it:

Miss L. A. Heister, of 212 East 14th street says: "To walk for any distance or to over exert myself in any way, intensified the aching in my back from which I was a long time a continual sufferer, and it caught cold it seemed to settle in the same region and made me almost miserable. When rising in the morning I felt stiff and sore, and often found it difficult to dress myself. Another symptom of my complaint was a weakness of the kidneys, which annoyed and distressed me beyond words. I doctored but found little if any relief until I tried Doan's Kidney Pills, which had been strongly recommended to me, and which I procured at Thomas & Trubner's drug store. They did me a vast amount of good. The pain in my back ceased, the secretions were regulated and my health was improved generally. The pills perform what they promise in every way."

MORAL TRAINING IN GOLF.

The Game is of Striking Disciplinary Benefit to Mind and Will as Muscles.

There are a good many people who think that golf is just foolishness. These are generally people who have watched one or two games without really understanding them and have never taken driver, loft or putter into their own hands and played. There is no game that grows in fascination more rapidly than does golf, says the Indianapolis News. The peculiar sense of freedom that it gives, the constant yet not violent exercise, the beauty of the long stretch of greenward resting toward tired eyes, and the apaceness that belongs in outdoor measure to few other common sports are recommendations that need only to be known once to be forever enjoyed.

But there is more in golf than exercise and recreation. There is moral training of a very high sort. For one thing, it is a game that keeps the conscience tender. Who is ever to know if the solitary player lifts his ball over the expiring bunker that he has tried unsuccessfully a dozen times to strike over? Or if he moves it out just an inch or so from the tail, uncut grass at the side of the links, what difference will it make if he does not count this a stroke in his score? Golf is, in fact, largely between a man and his Maker.

The most striking disciplinary lesson in golf, however, is the one driven home at every tee—"Keep your eye on the ball." The beginner learns that in addressing the ball, as it is called, this is the all-essential thing to remember. The club must be properly grasped, the important shoulder-swing must be mastered, but never at any moment must the player's eye wander from the little white ball. It reminds one of the old story of the lawyer who was looking for an office boy to train. He was invited to address a Sunday school, and in the course of his remarks told the children a story. The chief figure in the story was an old man, "Dad," who went out behind the woodshed with a gun to shoot an owl. At this point of the story the lawyer wandered into generalities. He rambled on for some time, but finally returned unexpectedly to his story. "And now, children," he asked, "who shot the owl?" "One of his hand went up, "Please, sir, Dad shot the owl!" "My boy," answered the lawyer, "he did. And you will make a judge." This boy, who kept his mind on the main point, one may conjecture, would have made a capital golf player. He would have kept his eye on the ball every time. Other players might be standing about to distract his attention and make him miss his play. Not he. He would look at his ball as his life depended on it, and when he drove off his ball would soar high and far. Golf is a great game. It is a deep, cunning game, like the Scotchman who originated it. And the boy or girl who plays it well gains more than fresh air and good fun.

FIRST HORSEBACK RIDE.
Jack-Ter Was Determined to Preserve His Rank Regardless of Appearances.

A jolly jack tar ashore decided to take a horseback ride, something that he had never attempted in all his life before, says a Chicago exchange. He easily obtained the use of a gentle old Dobbin, but was unable to get a saddle. However, he led the steed up to a high fence and got down on him. Far back on the animal's hips seemed to Jack the best place to sit, and there he sat and slowly rode along the village street. Some shipmates saw and cheered the procession, but one who affected to know more about navigating a horse than the others called out to his friend:

"Jack, ahoy!"

"Aye, aye!" came the response. "Jack, lad," the other continued, "get a little further midships and she'll ride easier."

"Avast, ye lubber!" Jack retorted. "This is the first craft I ever commanded, and bust me keel if I don't stay on the quarter-deck!"

And he sailed and he sailed.

THAT RED STAR

On the handkerchief sends a chill to the heart of the woman who had kept thinking—"the cough will get better after a while." Now she knows the fight for life is on and looks eagerly around for medical aid.

There is one medicine whose marvelous record for cures commends it to every sufferer from lung troubles as safe and sure.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, weak and bleeding lungs, emaciation and diseases generally, which, if neglected or unskillfully treated, terminate fatally in consumption.

"In the 'Lewiston Journal,' November 15th, 1901, printed in Lewiston, Maine, I find an advertisement of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mr. C. H. Brann, (provision merchant), of Bridgton, Maine, Box 114. "I want to tell you what the 'Discovery' did for me years ago for spitting of blood. The first three bottles helped me so that I was practically cured for one year. Then I took three bottles more, making nine bottles in all. It has now been over fifteen years and I have not been troubled with spitting any more blood."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

Every mother a Trained Nurse. It would be terribly advanced to suggest that every mother should be a trained nurse. And it really might discourage matrimony if every girl thought that she had to precede her honeymoon with a wearisome four years' course at a hospital.

But what is really meant by this expression of "trained nurse" is not a hospital diploma but merely a certain careful home training in the essential work of the nursery which will make the care of child, both in health and sickness, a much easier task than when an undertaken with ignorance, however much the ignorance might be coupled with love and duty.

Of course the more affection and devotion in the nursery the better, but these two qualities at their best cannot accomplish without knowledge, what can be done with intelligent training.

I don't know why it is that the expression "doing a thing intelligently" always suggests a great deal of effort and time, while the truth is that the minute you know how to do a thing well, you begin to save time and strength.

It is not remedying evil, but preventing evil that makes life more comfortable and enjoyable. And although there may be at times unavoidable sickness in the nursery, the mother with training can unquestionably save her babies a great many illnesses and herself endless exhaustion if she knows how to keep the nursery a wholesome, attractive place and how to do it easily and pleasantly.

Of course in the nursery, as in the kitchen, the greatest preventive of sickness is scrupulous cleanliness. This does not merely mean the tidy sweeping and dusting which keeps a room attractive and which, of course, every mother does instinctively and gladly, but the sort of cleanliness that disinfects the cleaning that routs the proud germ, that is the undoing of the self-satisfied insect that makes the air of the city room as sweet to breathe as that of a log cabin in the mountains.

Now, it is the part of the training of the modern mother to find out a way to do all these things easily as well as thoroughly, and if she lives in the city away from wells and cisterns her first difficulty in every sort of cleaning is hard water. If she actually attempts to get things clean with hard water she uses up her time and her strength so completely that she is soon worn out and discouraged.

There are various ways of softening water and it will do to use as well as different patent cleaning fluids, but without exception they are injurious to wood-work and ruinous to hands. And it is not demanded that any woman sacrifice all her time, beauty and youth for household work. It is training that puts in the hand of the modern mother a reasonable solution for almost every domestic problem. And if hard water and ammonia hurt the hands and cleaning fluid hurts the furniture, then the trained woman hunts about for something that will clean without hurting anything. And after much hunting and frequent questions she has discovered that the one thing that will make water soft without injury to fact with general benefit, is borax.

Borax will not only clean nicely, but acts as a germicide and insecticide as well. Physicians and trained nurses recognize it as one of the most harmless and simplest purifiers known.

So that while the wise, modern woman is getting her nursery clean with soft water that takes but little time and energy, she is at the same time disinfecting the rooms and destroying all possibility of germ life, thus creating an atmosphere that is perfectly antiseptic and, of course, much sweeter than could be found in the ideal baby hospital ward.

It is easy to see in this instance, at least, now that knowing a few things simplifies life, by giving the baby a better chance for health, in saving the mother's time by giving an increased measure of comfort with a decreased amount of labor. A teaspoonful of borax to a gallon of water, is an excellent proportion for softening water and accomplishing good work in the way of germ destructor. Water containing this amount of borax can be used on light or dark woodwork, on highly polished furniture, on hardwood floors, for washing the baby's clothes, for disinfecting all nursery cooking utensils and for an occasional rinsing out of the baby's bath tub and commode with perfect safety and good results. If there is any sort of plumbing in the nursery this same solution of borax water should be poured through the escape pipe at least once a week.

It is an excellent notion of the modern mother to keep the nursery very simple, outfitting it with only washable furniture, hard finished wood floor, washable, blue and white Japanese jute rugs and chairs of white enameled iron. The wood work is white enamel, the curtains are white lawn and the wall rough plaster painted cream white with a fringe of Delft blue figures.

If there is no nurse, any mother can keep such a place as this perfectly clean by giving it half an hour every morning with a full half a day every week. And there is no harm that a baby or young child can do in a nursery like this that a little warm water and borax will not remedy easily.

The woman who is looking for the perfect cleanliness of her nursery, who makes aware that all furniture, clothes and dishes are antiseptically washed, that the baby's clothes are antiseptically laundered, that there is nothing in the nursery, including the baby, that cannot be washed regularly and frequently in warm water softened with borax, is really doing what a trained nurse would do. She is working intelligently and saving her time and energy and is thus making her house more healthful and more attractive that the untrained woman would do with twice the work.—Mary Annabell Phanton.

Malaria.

Have you a slow and intermittent fever; chills creeping up the spinal column, especially in the middle of the day; aching back and limbs; cold hands and feet; flushed face with burning sensation? These are malaria symptoms. Do not delay, but begin course of treatment to break off the disease. Pure blood will withstand the attack of poison better than impure blood; and as pure blood is the result of a healthy condition of the stomach, you should get the stomach in order first. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a perfect stomach remedy, a gentle laxative and strengthens all the organs of assimilation. Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines.

Permits Revoked.

Health Officer Allen, of Louisville, revoked the permits of five prominent Utica, Ind., dairymen to sell milk in that city on the ground that their product had been watered 15 per cent. above the limit.

Have You A Cough?

A dose of Hallard's Horehound Syrup will relieve it. Have you a cold? A dose of Horebine at bed time and frequent small doses of Horehound Syrup during the day will remove it. Try it for whooping cough, for asthma, for consumption, for bronchitis. Mrs. Joe McFarth, 327 E. 1st street, Hutchinson, Kan., writes: "I have used Hallard's Horehound Syrup in my family for 5 years, and find it the best and most palatable medicine I ever used." 75c. Size, $1.00. Sold by R. C. Hardwick.

The loose sales on the floor by R. M. Woodbridge & Co. were again heavy, about 250,000 pounds of the weed being disposed of in this manner. Prices were considered good all along the line. Leaf was from 60c to 75c higher than last week, while lugs held their own.

Woodbridge & Co. sold some fine leaf for Mr. Omer White, of North Christian, at $9.60. This was the highest price obtained on the loose floor this season.

Quotations are as follows: Trash, $2.25 to $2.50; lugs, $2.75 to $3.25; leaf, $3.50 to $9.00. This was about the best sale held here for a month. Loose receipts continue good.

ANOTHER DEPARTMENT

Added to the Kentucky Farmer and Breeder—H. F. Hillemeier Will Answer Inquiries.

The Kentucky Farmer and Breeder, the weekly farm and stock paper established at Lexington the first of the year, which has broken all circulation records by obtaining a paid in advance circulation of 12,500 within three and a half months of its establishment, has just added another department of interest and value to its subscribers. It has induced Mr. Hector F. Hillemeier, the leading horticulturist not only of Kentucky, but of the Central States, to take charge of a department of correspondence in which all inquiries pertaining to fruit and forest trees, to vines and agricultural produce will be answered. Any inquiries on any of these subjects addressed to the Kentucky Farmer and Breeder will be answered by Mr. Hillemeier in the succeeding issue. To wide and varied experience Mr. Hillemeier adds accurate and scientific information with the power of clear expression in perfect English. His services could not be obtained by any paper save through his desire to give to others the benefit of his knowledge and experience, and he has consented to conduct this department for the subscribers of The Kentucky Farmer and Breeder purely as a labor of love. The paper and the wide circle of people who read it are to be congratulated upon the establishment of this department under Mr. Hillemeier's able direction.

AUDITOR'S AGENT.

Young Jim Campbell Named to Succeed Frank Lucas.

James Campbell, Jr., has been appointed revenue agent at large to succeed Agent Frank Lucas of Paducah. This appointment by Auditor Hager again opens the question of Lucas' appointment. Lucas was appointed for a term of four years by former Auditor Coulter two years ago. Hager claims Coulter's appointment should go out, but the auditor's agents contend they were appointed for four years and can hold on for two years yet. Auditor Hager makes his appointments now anyhow and beheads Coulter's appointees who are fighting the question in court.

DR. FOGARTY

Nashville, Tenn., June 22.—The Hon. John W. Gaines received a letter this morning from the Hon. John S. Niagara's Scenic Tunnel.

The scenic tunnel under the Horseshoe Falls of the Niagara, which has just been completed, was undertaken for the Niagara Falls Queen Victoria Park Commission in order to provide a perfectly safe view of the cataract from below. A shaft was sunk 127 feet and from this a tunnel was constructed, curving out under the Horseshoe Falls 800 feet. From this laterals were run into the gorge, where large observation rooms will be constructed of glass where tourists can sit in easy chairs and look out. A large electric elevator has been put into the shaft, and from the bottom a large board walk has been constructed to the mouths of the various tunnels.
